Robert Davis
Developer and Town Founder of Seaside, Florida

Robert Davis, partner Arcadia Land Company, is developer and co-founder, with his wife Daryl Rose, of Seaside, Florida. Already a quarter of a century old, with over 300 homes, a vibrant town center of stores and restaurants, a range of civic facilities, a theater, inns, and a charter school, Seaside has inspired community design and renewal around the world, launching the movement now known as the New Urbanism. Mr. Davis is a graduate of Antioch College and Harvard Business School. He has won recognition within his industry for a number of projects, and within the arts of community, including being named a Fellow of the American Academy in Rome.
